Reginald Suggs

Reginald (Reggie) Suggs joined AIG Retirement Services in 2011 as a Financial Advisor in his hometown of Chicago, IL. He worked closely with local plan sponsors and participants, helping them make more well-informed investment decisions. He gravitated towards coaching new financial professionals and was quickly identified as a leader. In 2017, Reggie accepted a promotion to Assistant District Vice President in Illinois where he co-managed a team of 50 professionals. His empathetic and hands-on approach to leadership caused him to stand out in a very short amount of time.

Reggie now serves as a Senior District Vice President at AIG Retirement Services in Northern Texas. He is responsible for leading a team of 40+ financial professionals across a 4-state territory and overseeing several employer sponsored retirement plans. He takes pride in providing timely and effective support to plan sponsors and plan participants; often resulting in increased employee engagement and improved retirement plan health.

Prior to his AIG journey, Reggie spent 10 years working in consumer banking on the Southside of Chicago. He specialized in home lending, budgeting, consumer and business banking, and investments. He is well-versed in the unique financial issues plaguing minority families, and he is using his platform to educate his peers within his industry.
